MADRID CAMPUS

ACADEMICS

Ready for an adventure in higher education? You can spend up to your first two years at Suffolk University Madrid Campus—starting any of our 70+ undergraduate programs and immersing yourself in this exciting European capital city—before finishing your degree in Boston. If you major in international relations, you can stay for all four years!

All classes are taught in English (except Spanish-centric ones, claro) and are equivalent to Suffolk Boston courses.

Suffolk Madrid offers truly unique academic opportunities. Imagine traveling to the Canary Islands with your astronomy class to visit the region's highest observatory, conducting environmental biology fieldwork in northern Spain, or exploring masterpieces in Madrid's top museums with your art history professor. That's just a typical semester here.

Our faculty members are world-class scholars and leaders in their fields. You'll have the chance to get to know them in our small classes and forge strong connections. You'll also learn from your international classmates and their distinct points of view in our inclusive, global community.

Suffolk is all about experiential learning. Apply your classroom knowledge and gain invaluable know-how through an internship in global security, business, finance, or advertising. Want to give back to Spain in a meaningful way? You can connect with the local community through volunteering and service projects, and make a difference during your time in Madrid.

STUDENT LIFE

HOUSING

You have your choice of two housing options: a homestay or a student residence hall.

If you're looking for cultural immersion and the chance to hone your Spanish language skills, living with a host family is your best option. Our experienced host families will make you feel at home and will help you adjust to life in your new country.

If you prefer a more traditional college dorm experience, the student residence hall is the right place for you. Just a 10-minute walk from Suffolk Madrid, you'll find spacious double rooms with a bathroom and shower, a cafeteria with lots of meal options, study spaces, a gym, and laundry facilities. You'll live among and befriend other university students from around Spain and the world.

ACTIVITIES

When we say that Suffolk Madrid is a community, we mean it. You'll feel at home from the minute you arrive on our close-knit campus. We start each semester with orientation sessions and a welcome trip for new and returning students. Salamanca, Seville, Cordoba, Malaga, and Granada are just a few of the places we've visited to kick off the semester.

You'll experience Madrid at its best. Our activities calendar includes trivia nights, horseback riding, paella-themed cooking events, and hikes along Roman roads—for starters.

We also organize three weekend excursions throughout the semester for you to discover other parts of Spain. One of these trips is included in your semester tuition. Maybe you'll hit the beach in Valencia, see Gaudí's architectural wonders in Barcelona, or roam San Sebastian's winding streets on the picturesque Basque coast. It's all part of the Suffolk Madrid experience.

LIFE IN MADRID AND BEYOND

Your Suffolk Madrid experience will transform you into a better version of yourself. You'll see so much more than Insta-famous tourist spots. You'll live and breathe another culture, while gaining skills and insights you can apply to your future career. No matter where your professional path takes you, you'll stand out to employers seeking new hires with global perspectives and the adaptability and confidence to take on what's next.

"I truly feel like I'm a different person in the best way possible since I got here. Every semester I learned more about myself. I've become so much more independent and self-sufficient and just comfortable on my own. My world is so much bigger."
