Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q21. Both political parties have a 15% rule at their state conventions... {ROTATE} Some people say the rule is fair because candidates must make their case directly to party activists who can determine whether a candidate is serious and values the party platform. Others say the rule is not fair because it gives too much power to party activists who can knock a candidate off the ballot even if that candidate receives the required certified signatures. Which is closer to your view?

Q22. {ROTATE} Some people say state party conventions serve an important role in the political process by setting benchmarks for candidates and key issues. Other people say they are a waste of time and money especially for candidates who spend half of the year focusing on getting the support of just convention delegates. Which is closer to your view?

Q37. The state Department of Children and Families has come under fire with recent deaths of children under the supervision of the state's Department of Children and Families. {ROTATE} Some people say it is the Governor's fault who has not fixed the problem at the state agency; other people say that, while a child's death is tragic, the agency is doing the best it can and that the amount of children's deaths are at the same rates as in other states. Which is closer to your view?

Q38. The Supreme Court's decision to allow SUPER PAC's to make campaign expenditures for candidates on the basis of free speech. Some people say that SUPER PAC's should not be allowed to raise and spend unlimited money to help a candidate because it corrupts the process. Others say that businesses and organizations through SUPER PAC's have the right to exercise free speech using the political process. Overall, do you support or oppose Super PAC's?
