... Elizabeth Warren who thought to be floundering in a race and you know not but not a good independence two new polls one from Suffolk University were from WBUR had her up by half a point of Scott Brown again that's very fluid but again it is with just those that perhaps as the Democrats fortunes are increasing improving for the White House ...

... today...compared with 44 percent for democrat elizabeth warren. a suffolk university and whdh-tv poll released monday showed warren favored by 48 percent of likely general election voters compared with 44 percent for ...

... will meet up with his democratic opponent, elizabeth warren. a recent suffolk university poll gives warren a four-point lead over brown, which is a boost, apparently, from her convention speech. ...