This guide provides selected information resources on Psychology. Included are the Mildred F. Sawyer Library subscription databases, websites, and a brief list of print resources. For specific book and periodical titles, check the Suffolk University Library Catalog.

Periodical Databases & Online Reference Books

The Sawyer Library subscription periodical indexes and full-text resources are available both on campus and off campus.

Periodical Databases

PsycINFO

PsycINFO, under the direction of the APA (American Psychological Association), is the authoritative index to psychology literature. It provides indexing and abstracts (but no full-text) to journals from 1887 to the present (over 2,000 titles), books, and dissertations. Since Suffolk University subscribes to PsycINFO through EBSCOHost, which also provides us with the PsycARTICLES periodical database, these two sources may be searched simultaneously.

PsycARTICLES

PsycARTICLES covers the full-text of 63 peer reviewed journals (1985 - present) published by the American Psychological Association, the APA Educational Publishing Foundation, the Canadian Psychological Association, and Hogrefe & Huber. PsycARTICLES and PsycINFO may be searched simultaneously.

Academic Search Complete

EBSCO's Academic Search Complete is a "scholarly, multi-disciplinary full-text database, with more than 5,500 full-text periodicals, including more than 4,600 peer-reviewed journals." Areas of study include social sciences, humanities, education, language and linguistics, and medical sciences. Coverage for most of the psychology related journals begins in the 1990's, however early backfile is available for some titles - for example the American Journal of Psychotherapy is available in full-text back to 1975.

Academic OneFile \(InfoTrac\)

Academic OneFile from Infotrac is a broad based periodical database, covering social sciences, arts, humanities, and science. Indexing extends as far back as the 1980's, and full-text is provided generally beginning in the late 1990's.

SpringerLink \(includes Kluwer\)

SpringerLink is a collection of more than 1,250 high-quality, peer-reviewed journals covering scientific, technical and medical journal literature. Psychology is well represented, including areas such as neuropsychology, personality psychology, and health psychology / behavioral medicine.

Sage Journals Online

Sage Publications publishes over 450 scholarly journals, with strong representation of the social sciences. Journals relevant to psychology include Applied psychological measurement (01/01/1977 - present), and The Counseling psychologist (03/01/1969 - present).

Blackwell Synergy

Blackwell Synergy, another small periodical database (849 journals), is devoted to the journals published by Blackwell. Browsing the journal titles by subject produces a list of 40 appropriate to psychology.

JSTOR

JSTOR has digitized the complete full-text of the backfiles of over 400 scholarly journals, many of which date as far back as the 1800s. Generally, coverage extends up to, but not including, the most recent three to five years of any given journal. JSTOR contains six psychology journals, including the American Journal of Psychology 1887-2001, Child Development 1930-1999, and Monographs of the Society for Research in Child Development 1936-1999.

Wiley InterScience

Wiley InterScience provides full-text access to scholarly journals published by John Wiley & Sons, including 48 journals in psychology.

Cambridge Journals

Cambridge University Press publishes over 220 peer-reviewed journals, covering a broad range of subjects. Browsing by topic leads to a list of 15 journals in Psychology and Psychiatry, including Behavioural and Cognitive Psychotherapy (1998 - present) and Psychological Medicine (1997 - present).

Project Muse

Project Muse provides the full-text to over 300 scholarly journals in the arts, humanities, and social sciences (including a small collection in psychology and psychiatry), published by the Johns Hopkins University Press. An example is American Imago (1995 - present), the scholarly journal of psychoanalysis, founded in 1939 by Sigmund Freud and Hanns Sachs.

MEDLINE

Produced by the National Library of Medicine, MEDLINE provides indexing and abstracts (no full-text) for over 4,600 journals related to medicine and clinical sciences, with good coverage of psychiatry and the neurosciences.

Health Reference Center-Academic

Another large database from Infotrac with a significant full-text component, Health Reference Academic from Infotrac contains a number of full-text, peer-reviewed journals appropriate for medically oriented, neuroscience, and psychiatry topics.

HighWire: Library of the Sciences and Medicine

<http://www.highwire.org/>

Highwire is a freely available database that provides free full-text to over 1,300,000 articles from 954 High Wire-hosted journals. Neuroscience, psychiatry, and psychology are all represented. Search or browse for articles, and use the citation mapping feature to view relationships amongst articles.

Online Reference Books

Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders : DSM-IV-TR 4th ed., text revision

This electronic version of the DSM-IV-TR (the standard text for the classification of mental disorders) is published as part of STAT!Ref med. reference, and was prepared by the Task Force on DSM-IV and other committees and work groups of the American Psychiatric Association. Please log off when finished, as there is only one simultaneous user at a time.

PsycBooks

"PsycBOOKS, from the American Psychological Association (APA), is a database of more than 21,000 chapters in PDF from over 1,400 books published by APA and other distinguished publishers."

Sage eReference

Sage Publications is a major scholarly publisher of journals, reference, and monograph titles. Sage eReference contains several online encyclopedias and reference books in psychology, counseling, and psychotherapy. Titles include "21st Century Psychology: A Reference Handbook" and the "Encyclopedia of Industrial and Organizational Psychology."

International Encyclopedia of the Social and Behavioral Sciences

Elsevier's "International Encyclopedia of the Social and Behavioral Sciences" is a massive resource (the print equivalent is 26 volumes), with the aim of documenting the "state of the art in all the fields encompassed within the social and behavioral sciences."

Gale Virtual Reference Library

Gale Virtual Reference is a collection of reference books published by Gale, which has now been made available electronically. Titles include: Child Development, 2002; Encyclopedia of Aging 4v, 2002; Encyclopedia of Health and Behavior 2v, 2004; Gale Encyclopedia of Psychology 2nd ed., 2001; International Dictionary of Psychoanalysis 3v, 2005; Learning and Memory 2nd ed., 2004.

APA Sites

American Psychological Association \(APA\)

<http://www.apa.org>

The main page of the APA website leads to information about APA products, membership, and careers in psychology. Assistance with the APA editorial style may be found at APA Style.org (<http://www.apastyle.org/>). Although users must consult the print version of the APA style manual for comprehensive information (available at the Sawyer Library Reference Desk), the website does offer specific pointers regarding APA style, bias in language and the citation of electronic media.

<http://www.apa.org/topics/homepage.html>

The Topics section of the American Psychological Society's website, offers "information from APA on selected psychology issues of interest to the public." Topics include aging, depression, sleep, stress, and trauma. Each topic has links to recent news, suggested readings, and links to articles from the APA's newspaper Monitor on Psychology.

APA Division 17: Society of Counseling Psychology

<http://www.div17.org/>

Division 17-Counseling Psychology, of the American Psychological Association, "was founded in 1946 to promote personal, educational, vocational, and group adjustment in a variety of settings. Presently, Division 17 brings together psychologists, students, and international and professional affiliates who are dedicated to promoting education and training, scientific investigation, practice, and diversity and public interest in professional psychology." Enter the site as a Psychologist, a Student, or a member of the Public. Content is limited, but includes things like a good explanation of the difference between a counseling and clinical psychologist, and a (Legal) Risk Management FAQ.

APASTyle.org

<http://www.apastyle.org/eleceref.html>

This website provides information on how to cite electronic media in a bibliography. It follows guidelines given in the 5th Edition of the APA Publication Manual. As changes are made to APA style, updates and corrections will be added to the website. Although there is no substitute for consulting the complete APA Publication Manual, users may also wish to consult the APA Research Style Crib Sheet - a source created by Russ Dewey of Georgia Southern University, and enhanced by Dr. Abel Scribe PhD.

Academic Affiliated Gateways

AmoebaWeb: Psychology on the Web!

<http://www.vanguard.edu/faculty/ddegelman/amoebaweb/>

AmoebaWeb, maintained by Douglas Degelman, Ph.D. Professor of Psychology at Vanguard University of Southern California, is an extensive and up-to-date gateway with "over 2000 links to psychology content (including full-text articles) freely available on the Web." Categories include research methods, social psychology, forensic psychology, and links to journals with some free full-text articles. Recommended in the October 2001 issue of the APA's Monitor on Psychology.

Neuroscience, Psychiatry & Psychology, Psychoanalysis

<http://www.mic.ki.se/Neuro.html>

An interesting set of links compiled by the Karolinska Institute Library, in Stockholm Sweden. The "Karolinska Institutet" is "Sweden's largest centre for medical training and research, and one of Europe's largest medical universities."

Social Psychology Network

<http://www.socialpsychology.org/>

Maintained by Scott Plous, Professor in the Department of Psychology at Wesleyan University, this website provides links to over 13,000 websites related to psychology, with a special emphasis on the field of social psychology. Browse the menu, or use the search engine on the opening page.

Intute - Social Sciences - Psychology

<http://www.intute.ac.uk/socialsciences/psychology/>

"Intute: Psychology provides access to psychology resources on the Internet. Each resource has been evaluated and categorised using the APA PsycINFO coding scheme. The main focus of coverage is on areas of psychology relevant to the social sciences." Categories include the subdivisions of consumer, forensic, organizational, and sport psychology. "Intute is a free online service providing you with access to the very best Web resources for education and research. The service is created by a network of UK universities and partners. Subject specialists select and evaluate the websites in our database and write high quality descriptions of the resources."

Princeton University's Selective Listing of: Internet Resources in Psychology and Related Disciplines

<http://www.princeton.edu/~psychlib/links.htm>

Cleanly organized and very extensive list of links to psychology resources on the internet. Both topical areas and research resources are covered. Examples include Clinical Psychology, Cross-Cultural Psychology, Industrial-Organizational Psychology, Neuroscience/Neuropsychology, Psycholinguistics, Library Research in Psychology, and Writing/Style Information.

Athabasca University's Centre for Psychology Resources

<http://psych.athabascau.ca/html/aupr/psycres.shtml>

Based at the Centre for Psychology of Athabasca University in Athabasca, Alberta, Canada, this site is intended as a resource for AU students majoring in psychology, and as such it provides a good gateway to academically oriented psychology resources on the Web. Examples include links to topics in Industrial and Organizational Psychology, Developmental Psychology, and Experimental Psychology.

Classics in the History of Psychology

<http://psychclassics.yorku.ca/>

This electronic resource, developed by Christopher D. Green, Associate Professor of Psychology at York University, Toronto, Canada, says that it "is an effort to make the full texts of a large number of historically significant public domain documents from the scholarly literature of psychology and allied disciplines available on the World Wide Web. There are now over 25 books and about 200 articles and chapters on-line. The site also contains links to over 200 relevant works posted at other sites." You can look at a list, sorted by author or topic, or use the search engine on the opening screen.

Psychology World Wide Web Virtual Library

<http://www.dialogical.net/psychology/index.html>

"The Psychology Virtual Library keeps track of online information as part of The World Wide Web Virtual Library. Sites are inspected and evaluated for their adequacy as information sources before they are linked from here." Topics include: Basic Academic Psychology, Clinical Social Work, History of Psychology, Professional Societies, Psychology of Religion, and School Psychology.

PsychScholar

<http://psych.hanover.edu/Krantz/>

MEDLINEplus: Mental Health

<http://www.nlm.nih.gov/medlineplus/mentalhealth.html>

"A service of the U.S. National Library of Medicine and the National Institutes of Health," MEDLINEplus incorporates Medline (the index to medical literature), ClinicalTrials.gov (the National Institutes of Health research studies database), drug information, a medical encyclopedia, and medical dictionary into a single website.

The PILOTS Database

<http://www.ncptsd.va.gov/ncmain/publications/pilots/index.html>

The National Center for Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) offers this electronic index (no full-text) to the literature on PTSD free of charge.

National Clearinghouse for Alcohol and Drug Information

<http://ncadi.samhsa.gov/>

A service of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), this website delivers an anti-substance abuse message, but also provides news, alcohol and drug facts, informational databases on drugs, treatment options and state needs assessment, research, conferences, and workplace issues.

Professional Associations

APA: American Psychological Association

<http://www.apa.org/>

The APA is the major professional and research group in the field of psychology, with more than 150,000 members and 53 professional divisions. At their website, find information on programs, funding, membership, databases, meetings, and much more.

APS: Association for Psychological Science

<http://www.psychologicalscience.org/>

The American Psychological Society was founded in 1988 with the mission to "promote, protect, and advance the interests of scientifically oriented psychology in research, application, teaching, and the improvement of human welfare." The Psychology Links page offers an abundant listing of links to psychology related sites. Categories include domestic and international psychological societies, government agencies, and federal policies relating to the conduction of research in psychology.

Society for Neuroscience

<http://web.sfn.org/>

Founded in 1969, "the Society for Neuroscience (SfN) is a nonprofit membership organization of scientists and physicians who study the brain and nervous system." Content in the section Information for the General Public is freely available, and several of the Society's publications are also publicly available.

Behavior Analysis: Division 25 of the American Psychological Association

http://www.auburn.edu/~newlamc/apa_div25/resources.htm

The Division of Behavior Analysis studies behavior "as a subject matter in its own right." Methods include the experimental analysis of behavior ("research on basic behavioral processes in a temporal and biological context,") applied behavior analysis, (behavioral processes within a social context,) and the conceptual analysis of behavior, ("which addresses historical, philosophical, theoretical, and methodological issues.") Resources include links to the Journal of Applied Behavior Analysis (<http://seab.envmed.rochester.edu/jaba/index.html>) and the Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior (<http://seab.envmed.rochester.edu/jeab/>) both of which offer some articles online in full-text.

PEP: Psychoanalytic Electronic Publishing

<http://www.pep-web.org/>

This website, formerly known as the APsaA JourLit and Bookrev Databases, is affiliated with the American Psychoanalytic Association (http://www.apsa.org). PEP Psychoanalytic Literature Search offers online searching "26 journals in psychoanalysis (covering 120 publication years), 56 classic psychoanalytic books, and all 24 volumes of The Standard Edition of the Complete Psychological Works of Sigmund Freud." Searching and access to summaries are free, however full-text is only available to subscribers.

Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology \(SIOP\)

<http://www.siop.org/>

SIOP is an affiliate of the American Psychological Society. Users will find information regarding membership, training, conferences, and publications, including free access to TIP, the official quarterly news publication of the SIOP.

Selected Areas of Specialization in Psychology

Developmental Psychology \(Amoeba Web\)

http://www.vanguard.edu/faculty/ddegelman/amoebaweb/index.aspx?doc_id=858

Part of the AmoebaWeb gateway to psychology maintained by Douglas Degelman, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology at Vanguard University of Southern California. Categories range from prenatal and perinatal development to adult development and aging.

The Personality Project

<http://www.personality-project.org/personality.html>

Created by William Revelle, the Director of the Graduate Program in Personality at the Northwestern University Department of Psychology, this site is a mixture of essay, bibliography of recommended readings, and links to other sites dealing with research in personality.

The Journal of Applied Behavior Analysis

<http://seab.envmed.rochester.edu/jaba/index.html>

"The Journal of Applied Behavior Analysis is a psychology journal that publishes research about applications of the experimental analysis of behavior to problems of social importance." The contents of volumes 1-40, published from 1968-2007, are freely available in PDF format.

The Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior

<http://seab.envmed.rochester.edu/jeab/>

"The Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior is a psychology journal primarily for the original publication of experiments relevant to the behavior of individual organisms." The contents for all issues for volumes 1-88 (1958-2007) are available as PDF files.

I-O \(Industrial-Organizational\) related pages on the WWW

<http://www.siop.org/iorelatedpages.aspx>

This collection of links to sites useful to Industrial and Organizational Psychology was compiled by SIOP, the Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology.

Brain Briefings

http://apu.sfn.org/index.cfm?pagename=brainBriefings_main&ion=publications

Published by the Society for Neuroscience, Brain Briefings is a "series of two-page newsletters explaining how basic neuroscience discoveries lead to clinical applications." Topics include Serotonin and Judgment, Stress and the Brain, and Child Abuse and the Brain.

Center for Cross-Cultural Research

<http://www.ac.wvu.edu/~culture/readings.htm>

"Online Readings in Psychology and Culture" is produced by the Center for Cross-Cultural Research at Western Washington University, with the goal of supplementing "basic texts in the areas of cross-cultural psychology, cultural psychology, psychological anthropology and related academic areas."

The Trowbridge Foundation (Psychology and Law topics)

<http://www.trowbridgefoundation.org/articles.htm>

The mission of this non-profit foundation, established in 1999 through a grant from Charles L. Trowbridge, "is to seek social justice through improved understanding of psychological and legal principles, and to promote improved standards of practice among lawyers and psychologists." Browse through the full-text of professional presentations and foundation reports dealing with issues such as admissibility of expert testimony and "Suggestibility and Confessions."

Cultural Psychology Links

<http://www.socialpsychology.org/cultural.htm>

Part of the Social Psychology Network, maintained by Scott Plous of Wesleyan University.

Psychological Tests: Description and Reviews

Psychological Tests: Web Sources

APA's FAQ/Finding Information About Psychological Tests

<http://www.apa.org/science/faq-findtests.html>

Although the APA "neither sells nor endorses testing instruments," the APA's FAQ about Psychological Tests does "provide guidance in using available resources to find psychological tests." This guide contains tips to locating both published psychological tests (i.e. those available for purchase through a test publisher) and unpublished psychological tests and measures (those that are not commercially available).

Buros Institute: Test Reviews Online

<http://buros.unl.edu/buros/jsp/search.jsp>

This website provided by the Buros Institute, publisher of the Mental Measurements Yearbook (a major test review source) and Tests in Print, allows browsing and keyword searching of information on over 4000 tests. Each brief test description includes the title, author, purpose, publisher, contact information, and review sources. The actual tests themselves are not available through Test Reviews Online. Users may also check the Suffolk University online catalog for information about Sawyer Library's holdings and electronic access to the The Mental Measurements Yearbook, and Tests in Print.

Testlink: ETS Test Collection Database

<http://www.ets.org/testcoll/>

The ETS Test Collection Database "was established to make information on standardized tests and research instruments available to researchers, graduate students, and teachers." The database "contains descriptions of over 20,000 tests that reside in the library of Educational Testing Service." A small subset of this collection ("Tests in Microfiche") which includes research and unpublished instruments are available for purchase from the ETS Library.

Tests and Measures in the Social Sciences: Tests available in compilation volumes.

<http://libraries.uta.edu/helen/test&meas/testmainframe.htm>

Compiled by Helen Hough, Health Sciences Librarian, Central Library, University of Texas at Arlington, Tests and Measures in the Social Sciences is a browsable index to tests and measures available in print. 124 resources covering 11,500 measures have been indexed.

Buros Institute User's Guides

Buros Institute: How to use the Mental Measurements Yearbook

<http://www.unl.edu/buros/bimm/html/howtommy.html>

A brief, free, user's guide from the Buros Institute (<http://www.unl.edu/buros/>) to identifying tests and making effective use of their descriptions in the Mental Measurements Yearbook. The Suffolk University online catalog gives information about Sawyer Library's holdings of and electronic access to the The Mental Measurements Yearbook.

Buros Institute: Using a Mental Measurements Yearbook Review to Evaluate a Test

<http://www.unl.edu/buros/bimm/html/lesson01.html>

Once a test has been identified, the Mental Measurements Yearbook (MMY) review will help to judge the usefulness of the test. This guide discusses each section of the MMY review.

Buros Institute: How to use Tests in Print

<http://www.unl.edu/buros/bimm/html/howtotip.html>

Another free user's guide from the Buros Institute, this one for using the publication Tests in Print. The Suffolk University online catalog gives information about Sawyer Library's holdings of and online access to the Tests in Print VI : An Index to Tests, Test Reviews, and the Literature on Specific Tests.

Buros Institute: Instructional Resources

<http://www.unl.edu/buros/bimm/html/subarts.html>

A listing of all the support and instructional materials provided by the Buros Institute.

Psychological Tests: Print Resources

Comprehensive Handbook of Psychological Assessment 4 vols.

REF BF176 .C654 2004

The Mental Measurements Yearbook

REF BF431 .M4

The Mental Measurements Yearbook (MMY) series is also available electronically from EBSCO. The electronic version contains the Ninth through the Seventeenth Mental Measurements Yearbooks, and it is updated every 6 months.

Tests in Print VI : An Index to Tests, Test Reviews, and the Literature on Specific Tests

REF BF176 .B96 2002 6TH

Tests in Print is a comprehensive index to all English language commercially available tests that are currently in print. An electronic version of Tests in Print is available through Ebsco.

Measures of Personality and Social Psychological Attitudes

REF BF698.4 .M38 1990

Online Research Guides, Archives, Indexes, and Encyclopedias

"Writing the Empirical Journal Article"

<http://dbem.ws/WritingArticle.pdf>

Professor Daryl J. Bem of Cornell University has written this article on the nuts and bolts of writing and publishing empirical journal articles. A version of this essay appeared in: Darley, J. M., Zanna, M. P., & Roediger III, H. L. (Eds) (2003). The Compleat Academic: A Practical Guide for the Beginning Social Scientist, 2nd Edition. Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

APA Research Style Crib Sheet

<http://www.docstyles.com/apacrib.htm>

Although there is no substitute for consulting the complete APA Publication Manual, many find this "crib sheet" a useful free resource. Created and updated by Russ Dewey of Georgia Southern University.

CogPrints

<http://cogprints.ecs.soton.ac.uk/>

Sponsored by researchers at the University of Southampton in the United Kingdom, CogPrints is a searchable, browsable electronic archive for the self-archiving of papers (most from journals and books) in any area of psychology, neuroscience, and linguistics. Related materials from the fields of computer science, philosophy, and biology are also included. Well over a thousand papers are archived in psychology and neuroscience alone.

Psycoloquy

<http://www.cogsci.ecs.soton.ac.uk/cgi/psyc/newpsy?>

"Psycoloquy is a refereed international, interdisciplinary electronic journal sponsored by the American Psychological Association (APA) and indexed by APA's PsycINFO and the Institute for Scientific Information." Although it has since been suspended, the 700+ articles and peer commentary for volumes 3-13 (1992-2002) are available in their archives.

PSYCline

<http://www.psychline.org/>

An "index of more than 2,000 psychology and social science journals on the web." This searchable website does a good job of collecting basic journal info and providing available links to periodical websites. And the "Article Locator" will attempt to search certain "external databases." However, VERY LITTLE free full-text is waiting on the other side of the journal links or the "article locator." So, if you just need to verify the existence of a particular journal, or type of psychology journal, this site can be useful. Just don't think of this as a means to articles.

Encyclopedia of Psychology

<http://www.psychology.org/>

Affiliated with Jacksonville State University in Alabama, this website isn't really an encyclopedia. It is, however, a searchable, regularly updated database of 2,000 links related to the field of psychology. Use the search engine on the front page, or step through subject areas.

Psych Central

<http://psychcentral.com/>

John Grohol is the author of the book The Insider's Guide to Mental Health Resources Online, so it's no surprise that he has an extensive website which he describes as a "one-stop index for psychology, support, and mental health resources, issues and people on the Internet, since 1992." Unfortunately, it also includes a good deal of commercial advertising, which seriously detracts from the site. Despite the advertising, it still serves as a directory of support groups, articles, and websites, organized by topic. Affiliated with PsychCentral is a Google-powered search engine called Enpsychlopedia. Here you can look for terms or authors within the contents of PsycCentral or specifically in sixteen associated websites. (However, keep in mind that these websites, although Psychology-related, may or may not be appropriate for academic research. So, evaluate any page you are referred to very carefully.) The Enpsychlopedia search engine also allows you search the entire web or in government websites only for results.

Counseling

Mental Health Information Network

<http://mhin.bu.edu/>

A collaboration between Boston University's Medical Library and the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health, MHIN aims to provide "an integrative information resource, as well as training, service, and access to consumers and staff of Metro Boston Area Centers, treatment centers, service providers, consumer advocacy groups, club houses and other affiliated organizations." Finding local resources here is unfortunately a challenge. Ignore "Boston Links" and click on the "Community" tab. In the different subject areas, Massachusetts resources are listed below national and general website links.

School Psychology Resources Online

<http://www.schoolpsychology.net/>

This metasite, maintained by Sandra K. Steingart of the Office of Psychological Services, Baltimore County Public Schools, provides "School Psychology Resources for Psychologists, Parents and Educators." Topics covered include specific learning disabilities, functional behavioral assessment, psychological assessment, special education, mental retardation, mental health, and more. There is a site index, but no search engine. And annotations are brief, at best.

Counseling Center Village

<http://ccvillage.buffalo.edu/>

The Commission for Counseling and Psychological Services Internet Interest Group and the American College Personnel Association sponsors this website maintained by David L. Gilles-Thomas of Counseling Services at SUNY/Buffalo. It is designed to provide a virtual community for University counselors. It is "made up of the many home pages -- and other web resources -- created by college and university counseling centers around the world." There is a Directory, a Research Network, a Virtual Pamphlet Collection, as well as a variety of other resources.

Child & Family WebGuide

<http://www.cfw.tufts.edu/>

Tufts University maintains this website, which it claims "links to the best sites about infants, children, and teens." It further describes itself as "a directory that evaluates, describes and provides links to hundreds of sites containing child development research and practical advice. Topics are selected on the basis of parent recommendations; they cover all ages, from early child development through adolescence." You can explore materials through age-group or through general topic. Sites are annotated and receive a star-rating. A well-organized and useful web resource.

SAMHSA's National Mental Health Information Center

<http://mentalhealth.samhsa.gov/>

"The National Mental Health Information Center was developed for users of mental health services and their families, the general public, policy makers, providers, and the media." It maintains a toll-free information line, and also provides information via this website. Browse specific Mental Health Topics, Publications (on anything from Disaster/Trauma to Stigma), or Resources through the tabs at the top banner. Or use the search engine to the left of the opening screen. A good resource for locating federal or state programs, or finding government-specific resources like the Surgeon General's Report on Mental Health. You can also find lengthy annotated lists of other web "Mental Health Links" here.

National Centers for Career and Technical Education

<http://www.nccte.org/>

The NCCTE is an academic partnership of "this nation's premier providers of career and technical instructor, administrator, and counselor education -- both initial and continuing preparation. The Consortium also draws upon the experience of a high-profile national Advisory Council of leading experts; a number of leading internationally recognized consultants; and a number of collaborating institutions, agencies, and organizations." Their In-Brief Publications area includes "Fast Facts For Policy And Practice" in areas like Career and Technical Education: Getting School Counselors on Board.
