22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy's Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state's Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy's Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?

22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy's Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state's Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy's Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?

22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy's Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state's Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy's Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?

22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy’s Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state’s Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy’s Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?

22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy’s Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state’s Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy’s Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?

22. The New Hampshire State Legislature is considering putting Marsy’s Law on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment. Proponents say that under the proposed amendment, the rights of victims would be elevated to the same level as the rights of criminal defendants. Opponents say that the state’s Victim Bill of Rights, which is already on the books, currently provides protection or victims. At this point would you vote for or against Marsy’s Law becoming an amendment to the state constitution?
