Meet Our Serials Assistant

Jesse Martin is many things to many people – actor, writer, maker of impressive holiday baked goods. And, of course, Serials Assistant at Moakley Law Library. The path he took to Suffolk was long and winding. After graduating from Northeastern University with a B.S. in Criminal Justice, he worked in travel and finance before moving to bookstores like Barnes & Nobles in the 1990s. Jesse ended up at the law firm Ropes & Gray in the late 1990s, where he handled interlibrary loans and secondary research tasks, focusing mostly on intellectual property research and environmental law. In February of 2010, Jesse started as a temp at Suffolk and joined as a full-time member of the staff that June. His role at Suffolk focuses on processing books and maintaining the collection, both paper and online resources. For paper resources, he makes sure that new books are on the shelves and that older volumes are updated with new pocket parts and supplements. For our online
Jesse prefers working at a law school over a corporate setting because he feels that he supports students and faculty in a direct way. He likes seeing people actually use materials that he makes sure are up to date.

Outside of work, Jesse is dedicated to the theater, having spent thirty years on Boston stages with opera companies, Boston Ballet, and local theaters. (His photo on the library staff page is the only one that’s clearly a professional headshot.) He’s also a member of the Footlight Club in Jamaica Plain, the oldest community theater in the United States, where he has been an actor and a board member. With no cable TV at home, he spends his free time reading biographies, plays, books about music and entertainment, and writing adapted plays and opera librettos for kids with an interest in theater.
The 1619 Project: a new origin story / edited by Nikole Hannah-Jones, Caitlin Roper, Ilena Silverman, and Jake Silverstein

“As a source of the fledgling nation's financial might, slavery shaped our political institutions and founding documents, our laws governing private property and financial regulation, our management techniques and accounting systems, and our economic systems and labor unions.”

— Matthew Desmond, The 1619 Project: A New Origin Story
Armed citizens: the road from ancient Rome to the Second Amendment / Noah Shusterman

African Europeans: an untold history / Olivette Otele

Congress in reverse: repeals from Reconstruction to the present / Jordan M. Ragusa and Nathaniel A. Birkhead

“Birkhead and Ragusa have completed an impressive and first of its kind study of congressional efforts to repeal major statutes—such as the highly-publicized attempt to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act. Armed with more than a century’s worth of data, they show that repeals face unique constraints and pose unique political, policy, and institutional challenges. Well-written and impactful, Congress in Reverse sheds new light on some of the most important legislative efforts undertaken in American history.” -- James M. Curry, University of Utah

Confessions of a free speech lawyer: Charlottesville and the politics of hate / Rodney A. Smolla

Academic and Professional
American legal systems : a resource and reference guide / Toni Jaeger-Fine

“...The ability to imagine a world different from the one we occupy is the first, critical step toward making change. This book offers us that radical act of imagination. Re-envisioning more than two dozen landmark opinions, the authors challenge us to throw off the shackles of doctrine and think generatively about sex, sexuality, and gender. It is essential reading for students, scholars, lawyers, and anyone who cares about the future of equality.”
– Kathryn Abrams, Herma Hill Kay Distinguished Professor of Law, University of California at Berkeley

Global Internet law in a nutshell / Michael L. Rustad

Feminist judgments : reproductive justice rewritten / edited by Kimberly M. Mutcherson

Mediating legal disputes : effective techniques to resolve cases / Dwight Golann

Introduction to US health policy : the organization, financing, and delivery of health care in America / Donald A. Barr, MD, PhD, Department of Pediatrics, Stanford University, Stanford, California
