Course Information:

Catalog Description: As part of the core curriculum for the BSBA, this course provides a comprehensive, innovative, managerial, and practical introduction to marketing. Students will learn and apply basic concepts and practices of modern marketing as used in a wide variety of settings. Technological advances, rapid globalization, economic shifts and cultural and environmental developments are causing profound changes in the marketplace. As the marketplace changes, so must the marketers who serve it. These new developments signify a brand new world of opportunities for forward thinking marketers. In response to these new developments, the focus of this course is on four major themes that go to the heart of modern marketing theory and practice:

1. Building and managing profitable customer relationships;
2. Building and managing strong brands;
3. Harnessing new marketing technologies in this digital age; and
4. Marketing in a socially responsible way around the globe.

Prerequisites: WRI 101 or WRI 103

Credit Hours: 3

This course follows the US Federal Government's Credit Hour definition: "An amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutional established equivalence that reasonably approximates no less than:

- (1) One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
- (2) At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours."

Assignments/Exams/Papers/Projects:

The Professor's Perspective

Your performance in this class is up to you. In general, it is not the Professor's responsibility to make allowances for a student's personal circumstances. Part of the learning in this class is to manage yourself; your time, your behavior, your responsibilities. Sometimes unforeseen things happen; I understand. My expectation is that you will make decisions for yourself regarding attending class (or not), completing work on time (or not), and so on. In making these decisions, keep me informed, but don't ask for permission. The class policies on these matters are very clear. Then, deal with the aftermath (submit work early, read ahead on your own, contact your team-mates if project work is affected, etc.).

Preparing for Class

It is important to be prepared for each class session. This means that you have completed the assigned readings and/or assignments and have thoughtfully and critically thought about the concepts and issues contained within the readings and assignments. This course is not one in which students will be passive note-takers. You are expected to contribute meaningfully to each session by engaging in class discussions, generating intelligent questions, and being prepared.

In-Class Activities and Discussion

Throughout the semester in-class activities will take place. These activities will be based on students' interests, current events, and classroom dynamics. You are expected to come to class prepared (i.e., readings and other assignments completed) and ready to participate in discussion. You must attend class to receive credit for the in-class activities.

The rubric below provides a basic evaluation framework for daily class participation. Disruptive behavior will negatively affect your participation score.

- 5 – Student is well-prepared and actively contributes to the classroom discussion.
- 4 – Student is generally prepared and asks relevant questions to help learn the material.
- 3 – Student is not generally well-prepared but frequently asks relevant questions.
- 2 – Student is mostly silent, EVEN IF PREPARED, and only rarely contributes to the class.
- 1 – Student is unprepared, inattentive, disinterested.
- 0 – Student is disruptive or absent.

Written Homework Assignments

Written assignments must conform to style guidelines provided; hard copy must be ready for submission at the beginning of class. Assignments will be informed by instructor during class.

Exams

The exam questions will be based on the assigned readings, class discussions, and homework assignments.

Make-up exams, allowed only with prior notification, will be scheduled at the discretion of the Professor and according to SUMC's standard policy on such exams.

Team Project

Students will work in teams to develop a marketing plan for a new product/service. Detailed guidelines will be provided by instructor.

Course and Classroom Policies:

Tardiness, Leaving Class Early and Returning (UNACCEPTABLE)

Arriving late for class, leaving class early, or leaving during class and returning is rude and unprofessional behavior. A 15-minute limit is allowed to enter the classroom; those arriving later will be counted as having been absent that day.

Cell phones and other electronic devices. Please make sure wireless phones, PDAs, MP3s, Blackberry clones, pagers and other electronic devices are turned off during class. If a student chooses to use the devices during class, the professor reserves the right to confiscate the device and/or ask the student to leave the class.

You may not eat or drink (except water) in class.

Participation/Attendance Policy:

The SUMC Student Handbook states the following:

Once a student is registered for a course, attendance at every meeting of every class is expected, including those held in the first week of the semester. A maximum of two unjustified absences is permitted. Each additional absence will cause the final course grade to be lowered by one-third of a letter grade, i.e., from A to A-; A- to B+; B+ to B, etc.

Excessive absences in a course will have a negative effect on the final grade. When a student is absent, the quality of his or her work in a course will deteriorate since material missed in class sessions can rarely be made up satisfactorily, even though the student remains responsible for that work.

Please note that even when a student has a justified reason for missing class, such as illness, the negative academic impact on learning will be the same as if the absence were for spurious reasons.

In this course, any absence due to illness should be justified by a note from the student's physician or other health professional confirming the day(s) on which the student was unable to attend class. A written excuse from a student's host parent or residence supervisor is also acceptable.

In the event that a class meeting is unexpectedly cancelled, students will be expected to continue with readings or other assignments as originally scheduled. Any assignments due or class activities (e.g., a quiz, exam or presentation) planned for such a cancelled class are due at the next class meeting unless other instructions are communicated.

Disability Statement:

If you anticipate issues related to the format or requirements of this course, please meet with me. I would like us to discuss ways to ensure your full participation in my classroom.

If formal, disability-related accommodations are necessary, it is very important that you be registered with the Office of Disability Services (ODS) at the main Campus in Boston so that I am notified of your eligibility for reasonable accommodations. We can then plan how best to coordinate your accommodations. Check the ODS web site at www.suffolk.edu/disability for information on accommodations.

Student Resources:

SUMC provides a range of student services, both academic and personal. To learn more about course-related tutorials and academic workshops, refer to the SUMC Student Handbook, Section 2 "Academic Policies and Services". Section 5, "Living in Madrid", contains information on the medical and mental health resources, including an English-speaking therapist, available to you.

Midterm Review:

At midterm, around week 6, you will be given a midterm grade based on your progress to date and performance on assignments, quizzes and midterm exam. Midterm grades of C- or below will be reported to the Madrid Campus Academic Standing Committee, with an explanation of what I believe has contributed to that grade: excessive absences, poor time management or study skills, lack of effort, difficulty with the course material or with writing or language skills, etc. The Academic Standing Committee or I may contact you to suggest strategies for addressing these difficulties, which may include mandatory participation in Math Tutorials. I strongly encourage you to visit me during my office hours so we may discuss how you can be successful in this class.

Academic Misconduct:

www.suffolk.edu/about/mission-history/policies-procedures/academic-misconduct-policy

Suffolk University expects all students to be responsible individuals with high standards of conduct. Students are expected to practice ethical behavior in all learning environments and scenarios, including classrooms and laboratories, internships and practica, and study groups and academic teams. Cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, use of unauthorized electronic devices, self-plagiarism, fabrication or falsification of data, and other types of academic misconduct are treated as serious offenses that initiate a formal process of inquiry, one that may lead to disciplinary sanctions.

Student work will be thoroughly examined for academic integrity and may be scanned using plagiarism detection software. A faculty member suspecting academic misconduct will contact the student using the Suffolk email address to schedule a meeting and will make all effort to do so within five business days of detecting the incident. During the meeting, the faculty member will present the documentation that led to suspected academic misconduct. Resolution of the incident will be according to the procedures outlined in the SUMC Student Handbook.
