Internship Program Admissions

The Counseling, Health & Wellness Center (CHW) provides integrated counseling and health services to Suffolk's significantly diverse population of undergraduate, graduate, and law students. The Internship in Health Service Psychology has been APA-accredited since 1996. Training aims include preparing Interns for entry-level practice in higher education settings, increasing multicultural competency with a focus on social justice, and assistance with the development of an authentic professional and personal identity rooted in professional values, ethics, and knowledge. CHW provides a dynamic and supportive training and working environment for personal and professional growth. Training staff maintain an integrated approach to clinical work, with a focus on empirically based short-term and relational or relational-cultural models. CHW seeks to maintain an inclusive environment for service delivery, staff engagement, and the training of Doctoral Interns; training staff are committed to the provision of services and training which intentionally address issues of diversity and identity, interpersonal sociocultural differences, and social justice. Candidates from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.
